GRIEVANCE POLICY

1.0 INTRODUCTION

- 1.1 Prospect Community Housing recognises the importance of implementing and monitoring an effective grievance policy and procedure to enable a member of staff to raise a grievance concerning their employment and to ensure fair and consistent treatment.
- 1.2 This policy and the accompanying procedure complies with the current Code of Practice on Disciplinary and Grievance Procedures issued by the Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service (ACAS) in 2015 (ACAS code of practice for disciplinary and grievance procedures).
- 1.3 Grievances are concerns, problems or complaints members of staff may have with regard to their employment with Prospect, e.g. concerning the job, working environment or any of your colleagues.
- 1.4 We encourage our staff to raise concerns immediately at the lowest possible level and we will do our best to resolve the majority of these quickly, using our informal process. However, we know that sometimes a formal procedure is also needed when the informal process does not reach a satisfactory conclusion, or where it is not appropriate to use. This policy provides the details of both the informal and formal processes.
- 1.5 A grievance is separate from an appeal and is not to be followed when submitting an appeal against disciplinary action.
- 1.6 Where the grievance concerns a change to working arrangements, the 'status quo', i.e. the arrangements in force just before the change was proposed or implemented, will apply while the grievance is being dealt with. The only exception to this is where maintaining the 'status quo' would result in a breach of statutory or other mandatory regulations.
- 1.7 In implementing this policy and procedure we will ensure that we comply with our Equality and Diversity policy, in particular where any specific arrangements are required for those with a disability.

2.0 INFORMAL ACTION

- 2.1 Whenever possible, members of staff and managers are encouraged to raise and resolve grievances informally, as part of their day-to-day contact. Where it is not possible to do so, or where the informal approach has been tried and has not resolved the issue, the grievance should be put in writing and the formal Grievance Procedure should be initiated.

3.0 STAGE 1 - FORMAL ACTION

- 3.1 A member of staff wishing to raise a formal grievance, must submit their grievance in writing to the appropriate manager (refer to the Grievance procedure for a grievance form).
- 3.2 At all stages of the formal process the member of staff has a statutory right to be accompanied by a trade union representative or a workplace colleague. The member of staff can make a request to be accompanied by a companion who is not a trade union representative or work colleague. A request of this nature will be reviewed by the Manager on a case by case basis, taking into account any reasonable adjustments that may be required. The chosen companion is allowed to summarise the case and confer with the member of staff. However, they do not have the right to answer questions on behalf of the member of staff.
- 3.3 On receipt of a written grievance the Manager, Director or Chairperson will immediately refer to the Grievance Procedure to ensure the matter is handled promptly and without undue delay.

4.0 STAGE 2 - APPEALS

- 4.1 We recognise the importance of having an effective policy and procedure to enable a member of staff to appeal if they feel their grievance has not been satisfactorily resolved.
- 4.2 The staff member should submit their appeal in writing to outline the reason for the appeal.
- 4.3 Appeals will be heard by the appropriate level of management as detailed in Appendix 1.
- 4.4 A decision made at this level will be final.

5.0 COLLECTIVE GRIEVANCES

- 5.1 A collective grievance is a complaint against an issue, which affects all staff or a group of staff in the same way, e.g. a change to a working practice, or working hours. Staff members wishing to raise a collective grievance should do this as formal action.

6.0 'MISCHIEVOUS' GRIEVANCE

- 6.1 Where it is clear that a grievance raised by a member of staff is 'mischievous' and designed to cause difficulties, as opposed to being a genuine complaint, this will be regarded as a serious offence and the member of staff may be liable to disciplinary action.

7.0 EXTERNAL ADVICE

- 7.1 Where required, to ensure this policy is implemented fairly and consistently, the manager or Committee member hearing a Stage 1 or a Stage 2 grievance may seek professional advice from an appropriate external organisation, such as Employers in Voluntary Housing (EVH).

8.0 RAISING A GRIEVANCE ONCE EMPLOYMENT HAS ENDED

- 8.1 A former member of staff may wish to raise a grievance after their employment has ended. In this situation the matters raised will be considered and dealt with if appropriate. Once an investigation has been carried out a letter will be sent detailing the findings. There will be no further steps of this process.

9.0 IMPLEMENTATION AND REVIEW

- 9.1 The Manager handling a grievance issue will ensure the reporting and recording requirements, as detailed in the Grievance Procedure, are followed.
- 9.2 The Director is responsible for ensuring that those with the authority to hear grievances apply this policy and the supporting procedure consistently.
- 9.3 The Director is responsible for ensuring that this policy is reviewed by the Management Committee at least every 3 years.

Stage 3: Assessing the impacts

How might the policy impact on people who share protected characteristics? Include both positive and negative impacts.

Protected Characteristic	Description of Impact
Age	Younger workers may be less aware/confident about raising grievances. Through regular work review meetings Managers will be able to provide support and guidance to individuals.
Disability	Grievance procedures may exacerbate mental health issues. People with existing mental health issues may already have difficulties with personal resilience and this may add to anxieties around raising a grievance. Through regular work review meetings Managers will be able to provide support and guidance. Staff members can also access confidential advice and counselling through the Employee Assistance Programme. This is offered to alleviate additional stress arising from the grievance process for those raising a grievance and those subject to the grievance.
Gender reassignment	Individuals from this group can be more susceptible to victimisation from other staff and may therefore feel less able to raise a grievance. Through regular work review meetings Managers will be able to provide support and guidance. Staff members can also access confidential advice and counselling through the Employee Assistance Programme.
Marriage & civil partnership	No impact identified.
Pregnancy & maternity	There could potentially be issues around raising concerns for women who are pregnant or on maternity leave. This could be due to personal stress and vulnerabilities caused by the pregnancy or because of time away from the workplace. Through regular work review meetings Managers will be able to provide support and guidance. Staff members can also access confidential advice and counselling through the Employee Assistance Programme.
Race	No impact identified.
Religion or belief (including no belief)	No impact identified.
Sex	No impact identified.
Sexual orientation	Individuals from this group can be more susceptible to victimisation from other staff and may therefore feel less able to raise a grievance. Through regular work review meetings Managers will be able to provide support and guidance. Staff members can also access confidential advice and counselling through the Employee Assistance Programme.

How does the policy promote equality of opportunity?

The policy will promote equality of opportunity by providing a clear framework for all grievance matters to be handled in a fair and consistent way, regardless of any protected characteristic.

How does the policy promote good relations?

The policy aims to promote good relations by providing an informal process to resolve grievances.

Stage 4: Decision making and monitoring

Identifying and establishing any required mitigating action

If, following the impact analysis, you think you have identified any unlawful discrimination – direct or indirect - you must consider and set out what action will be undertaken to mitigate the negative impact.

Does the assessment show a potential for differential impact on any group(s)?	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> No
Is there potential for unlawful direct or indirect discrimination?	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> No

What arrangements could be implemented to reduce or mitigate any potential adverse or negative impacts identified?

Managers hold regular work review meetings and annual appraisals with staff, providing an opportunity to discuss any issues. Independent confidential advice and counselling is available to all members of staff.

Describing how Equality Impact analysis has shaped the policy making process

No changes have been made to the policy as a result of the equality impact assessment. Training for Managers and Committee members will be arranged as necessary.
